Food Is Labor.
The New Capital Tax.
"Keep Out of My Air."

By Arthur Brisbane

(Written Friday, August 1.)

The Railroad Unions tell the President truly that the problem is not higher wages, but the high cost of living. From the White House comes the official word: "The President is giving deep and thoughtful consideration to the high cost of living."

How is the problem to be attacked? How is it to be solved? A hog represents so many bushels of corn changed into pork. Corn costs double.

Corn and all farm products represent work. The farm hand gets $4.00 a day, instead of $25.00 a month. The hay and oats that the horses eat cost double. The gasoline that the farmer puts in his tractor costs double and more thanks to a powerful trust. And when your tractor is arranged to eat kerosene instead of gasoline the price of kerosene is trebled.

In France labor unions went at it roughly. They took the food from farmers by force and paid them one-quarter the price asked. They cannot do that here. What will they do? Where will you begin to bring down the price of food? If you continue raising wages what will prevent constant increase of food prices, since food is only labor in another form?

Here is a ray of sunshine in the blackness, anyhow. The telegraph lines go back to their private owners to-day, and, miracle of miracles, a rate war is declared. Mr. Mackay of the Postal cuts twenty per cent off the rates charged by the Government.

Malls are opened and letters are going back and forth between Paris and Berlin to-day after five years. There is some hope in that announcement, which means that, at least for the moment, war on a big scale is stopped. If men want to live and resume the work of civilization they must first stop murdering each other.

There is amusing excitement because soldiers swear they saw a million-dollar bonfire in France, flying machines burned up to get rid of them and automobiles and other property paid for by the American people burned in the same way.

True or false, the statement about the bonfire is not interesting or important. They burned up so many millions in the great Graft bonfire, the profiteers' feu de joie, that an occasional million-dollar bonfire does not make much difference.

The Government is selling, by parcels post, surplus food stocks. In the city of Newark, N. J., Mayor Gillet, dressed in a butcher's apron sells Government bacon at 36 cents a pound. Five tons sold in two hours. Something new in this Government. Where are the men that should be shouting "Anarchy?" when anything is done to interfere with the exploitation of the people. Why was not the food privately sold to a few to be retailed at high prices to the many? The answer to that question is "PUBLICITY."

Italy now adopts the new idea in taxation. Fortunes, not incomes, will be taxed. This tax, cutting a slice out of capital, is expected to yield 20,000,000,000 francs to the Italian Government this year. Quite a source of revenue. Fortunes under $10,000 will not be taxed. If that fashion spreads, can you imagine the waiting and gnashing of teeth?

A great French General says the French people are not bothered about the former Kaiser or what shall be done with him. That, he says, is for England to decide.

England, you may safely predict, will decide not to hang the first cousin of King George and favorite grandson of Queen Victoria.

To hang a royal personage does not leave a good taste in the mouth of royalty. It's too much like nailing a weasel's skin to the barn door. Other weasels dislike it.

A farmer near Kansas City has definite ideas on property. He says he owns his land down to the center of the earth, and up above to the top of space—wherever that may be, and no man has a right to fly through his air without his consent. He is starting a lawsuit to prevent such use of "his" air. This is refreshing, especially to

PRICE OF BREAD MAY BE CUT

EXPRESSES APPROVAL OF SIMS BILL

W. S. Stone Says Labor's Belief in Bill is Profound

Shop Employes in Columbus Walk Out This Morning.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Labor now demands that America become the home of industrial freedom as it has become a land of political freedom, Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers said today, in appearing before the house interstate commerce committee, in support of organized labor's plans for public ownership and private operation of the railroads.

Declaring that American democracy was controlled by an autocracy in industry, Mr. Stone argued that there could be no solution and no lowering of the cost of living as long as consumers had to pay exorbitant profits on their own earnings in purchasing the necessities of life.

Says Bill Is Solution

Labor's belief in the Sims' bill embodying the railroad employee's plan for the solution of the railroad problem was declared by Mr. Stone to be profound. In this plan, he said, the workers raised the banner of democracy in control of industry and advanced "to a new crusade with the faith of the pilgrims."

"At the request of these organizations (the railroad brotherhoods) the Sims' bill is now before you," said Mr. Stone.

"I speak as the voice of these two million men, delegated by them to announce to this committee and to the people of this country that they are supporting this measure with all the strength and all the unity of purpose that can move so large a body of citizens."

Strike Is Spreading

With reports still coming in that striking shopmen refused to return to work and that the strike was spreading despite efforts of officers of the union to hold the men at work until an authorized strike vote is taken late this month, and the subsequent curtailment of train service and its effect on industry, the railroad strike situation and its related subject, the high cost of living continued today to take precedence in importance over all matters in congressional and administrative circles.

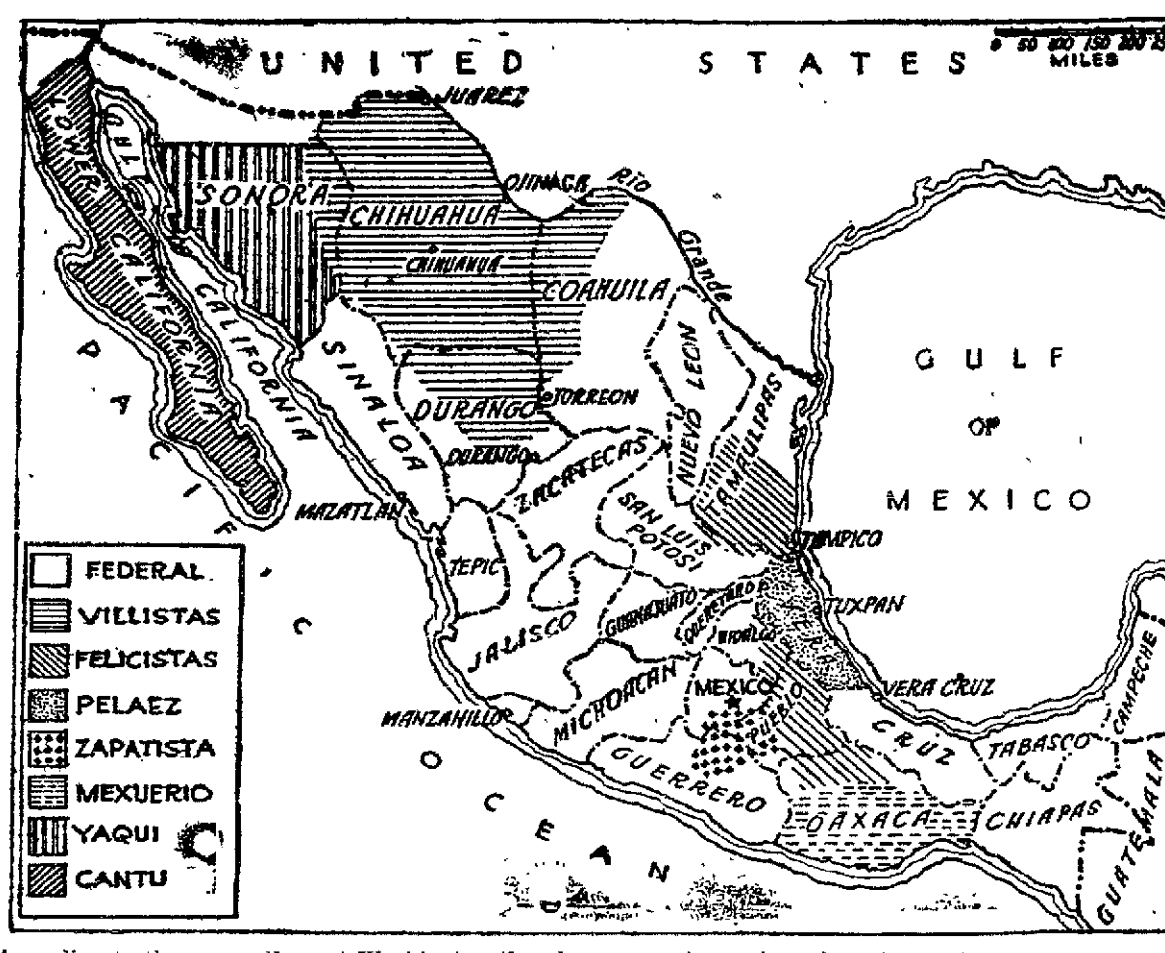

Already more than 200,000 cars are reported to be out of commission and unless railroad rolling stock can be kept in running order, it was pointed out, a majority of mills, mines and factories and food product plants will be threatened with closing.

Locally, interest centered in the meeting of the house interstate commerce committee, before which representatives of all the organized railroad employes were expected to appear in support of the Plumb plan, which would eliminate private capital from railroad ownership and operation. The Plumb plan now is before the house in the form of a bill providing a tri-partite control of the roads. The bill was introduced several days ago by Representative Sims of Tennessee.

single taxers. A nice legal point will arise. The earth is moving all ways one thousand miles an hour, turning around on its axis. It travels more than a billion miles a year in its whirling journey around the sun—and the sun, dragging the earth with it, is furiously rushing through space, heaven knows where, just now toward the blue star Vega.

Consequently the space above that farmer's land is not the same space now that it was a second ago. It is the same earth, under his acres, but not the same space above them. Does he get title to all that now space, as his farm whirls through infinity?

EXCESSIVE PROFITS HAVE BEEN REALIZED BY EVERY FACTORY IN THE SHOE PRODUCTION INDUSTRY

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The high price of shoes was declared to be due to excessive profits taken by every factory in the shoe production industry in a report by the federal trade commission to congress made public today. The packers were charged with having begun the pyramiding of shoe prices by an unwarranted increase in the price of hides, the supply of which they were said to control. On top of this increase, it was charged, the tanners have taken "exceptional profits," while the shoe manufacturers have demanded an "unusual margin," and the retailers have charged prices that are "not justifiable."

The commission's report covering the four year period from 1914 to 1918 is the result of an exhaustive inquiry into the price of hides, leather and shoes begun more than a year ago, it was said. It has been in the president's hands for some time, and it is understood that he urged its speedy printing and transmission to congress in connection with efforts of the government to combat the high cost of living.

Price Greatly Increased

To show that the packers during the last four years have made unwarranted increases in the price of "packer" hides, the report pointed out that the price differential between their hides and "country" hides—hides of a lower grade—has increased "far beyond the usual proportion."

Charges of excessive profits against the tanner and the shoe manufacturer were said to be supported by "the high rates of return on investments," in both industries, following the price increases.

"The public," said the report, "had to pay prices for shoes that not only could not be justified because retail shoe dealers took too much profit but because the dealer had to pass on the consumer the excessive profits received by butchers for hides and also the excess profits of tanners and shoe manufacturers."

LANSING IS STAR WITNESS IN THE TREATY HEARINGS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Secretary Lansing told the senate foreign relations committee today that the American plan for a league of nations was "not pressed" at Versailles and never was presented to the full peace conference.

The secretary, appearing at a public hearing of the committee said he did not know whether a copy of the American draft was still in existence. He presumed, he said, that the draft was made by President Wilson and added that a copy might still be in the President's possession.

Secretary Lansing, who as a member of the American peace delegation took a direct part in the Versailles negotiations, had been asked to come before the senate foreign relations committee today, as the star witness in its public hearings on the treaty with Germany.

Discussing the Shantung provision of the treaty, Secretary Lansing said the Lansing-Ishii agreement made to obtain reaffirmation by Japan of the open door policy in China, was entered into by the American government without knowledge of the secret treaty between Japan and the allies for a transfer of German concessions in Shantung to Japan.

Mr. Lansing said it was true that President Wilson had cabled to the peace commission, requesting that the confidential minutes of the proceedings of the commission on the league of nations be not furnished to the French senate.

Campaign Has Taken Spurt

COLUMBUS. — The sale of War Savings Stamps in Ohio has taken a tremendous spurt. Last week Warren county alone sold more than $50,000 of War Stamps. Licking county $60,000, Ross $25,000 and Franklin $20,000. The sale of War Savings Stamps in Ohio to date totals $125,000,000.

Warren county during the last few days has taken the lead from Licking in the race for the $10,000 Victory Memorial shaft. Morrow county is third with Ross closely pressing for fourth place. The contest opened nine weeks ago and will close August 31. The memorial will go to the county selling the largest percentage of its 1919 War Savings quota during the months of June, July and August.

The jump in sales of War Stamps is indicative of the continued popularity of the government's savings campaign. The new $100 and $1,000 treasury savings certificates are proving very popular, especially among farmers. Thousands of dollars of wheat money are being put into the new "grown-up bonds."

ANNOUNCEMENT CAUSES CORN TO TAKE UPWARD JUMP

CHICAGO, Aug. 6.—An instantaneous upward jump of 4 1-2 cents to 9 1-2 cents a bushel was the response of the corn market today to the announcement that the government would maintain the guaranteed $2.26 price of wheat. The biggest rise of the corn market was in the principal trading delivery, December, which soared at once to $1.52.

GOVERNMENT TO AID STATE IN AMERICANIZATION

COLUMBUS, Aug. 6.—Plans of the federal government to work hand in hand with state and local Americanization agencies were announced today through the Ohio Institute for Public Efficiency. Ohio is included in a district under supervision of R. M. McClure, Regional Director, with headquarters in Toledo, it is announced.

Manuals are being prepared for local use and it is proposed to organize every community in the state having 500 or more speaking or illiterate inhabitants. Cities and towns where the problem is most pressing will be urged to appoint a local full time director to carry on the work.

The Regional Director will not attempt to set up new agencies but to work with the State Americanization Committee and local authorities, it is emphasized.

In addition, Ohio may obtain some $700,000 for salaries or training of Americanization teachers, the Ohio Institute estimates. This would be the state's share of the $13,250,000 fund provided in the Smith-Bankhead bill, backed by Secretary of the Interior Lane, now before congress.

Ohio has about one-fourth of all illiterates and non-English speaking persons in the country, figures show. To take advantage of this bill, it passed, it will be necessary for the state to require instruction in the English language, of illiterates more than 15 years of age, for at least 200 hours a year.

Former Spencer Twp. Pastor is Missing

MARION, O., August 6.—Police departments of Ohio cities have been asked to aid in the search for Rev. David W. Gow, pastor of the Baptist church at Radnor, who has been missing several days. Rev. Mr. Gow left home, having told his wife he was going to Delaware. Nothing has been heard of him since.

About a year ago his son disappeared and nothing has ever been heard from him.

Rev. Mr. Gow is about 50 years old and came to Radnor from Spencerville.

ELECTRICAL STORM IN NORTHERN OHIO DOES GREAT DAMAGE

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

CLEVELAND, Ohio, August 6.—Four persons known to be dead, probably six seriously wounded, property and crop damage estimated at more than two million and 20 families driven from their homes was the toll early today of the electrical storm which swept northern Ohio late yesterday.

Three of the deaths occurred in Youngstown, where two persons were killed instantly by lightning and another electrocuted by coming into contact with a live wire. At Bellevue, a boy was drowned when he was drawn into a sink hole while bathing in a flooded street.

In Tiffin more than 200 homes in the Rock Creek basin were flooded and abandoned.

Ashtabula county, with estimated damage of $1,000,000, suffered the greatest loss, according to newspaper advice received here. Between forty and sixty bridges and culverts were reported washed out and highways damaged.

Scores of farmers lost livestock, wheat cuts in the fields, while corn was flattened out and other damage done to orchards and vineyards.

Destruction by lightning of barns, most of which were filled with new crops were reported from many points.

With the exception of the storm of September 2, 1901, it was the heaviest ever recorded, whether bureau officials declare, and it may be days before the full extent of the ruin wrought can be estimated.

INDIANA FARMERS TO HOLD PRODUCTS IF STRIKE GOES ON

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 6.—In a telegram to President Wilson the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Associations, representing more than 100,000 Indiana farmers, condemned "veiled threats of a revolution," and declared that if the railroad strike continues it seriously considers advising all its members to hold farm products.

The message to the president signed by Lewis Taylor, general secretary of the association, follows: "The Indiana Federation of Farmers' Associations, a great conservative body, condemns veiled threats of a revolution. If the railroad strike continues we seriously contemplate advising all of our members to hold farm products until the strike ends. We believe in such arbitration as will result in justice and fairness to all concerned, with work to be resumed pending a decision in the matter."

Many Thousands Sign Petition

COLUMBUS, August 6.—The extent of public opposition to the Crabbe prohibition enforcement bill was seen, when 134,806 names were filed with Secretary of State Harvey C. Garber for a referendum. This total is 76,706 more than is required under the law. The voters will decide the fate of the bill, which is said to contain many provisions invading constitutional rights, in the November election.

WILL TRY TO REGULATE FLOUR PRICE

Agents are Today Carrying Out Attorney General's Orders

President Wilson is Expected to Make Recommendations To Congress

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—Agents of the department of justice throughout the country today already were at work to carry out the order of the attorney general issued late yesterday that profiteers and hoarders of food and other necessities be tracked down and prosecuted under the Lever food control act. Recommendations for additional legislation necessary to effect a reduction in the cost of living, formulated by the special subcommittee of the cabinet, were in President Wilson's hands, and he was expected to make these recommendations the subject of an early message to congress. Their nature has not yet been disclosed.

Mr. Reducio Priors

The country today faced the delicate promise of a game cut in bread prices following the announcement yesterday by Director Julius H. Barnes, of the grain corporation that an immediate effort would be made to place on sale in every community where prices are found improperly high, standard export flour at $10 a barrel. The ruling price during the last four months, he said, has been at least a dollar above that figure. The announcement was made at the time, however, that the grain corporation had decided to maintain the government's guarantee on wheat at $2.26 a bushel. The prospective world wheat supply, Mr. Barnes said, dictated this action as a "reserve protection against a higher price later."

Predicts Shrinkage

In a statement contending that the price of wheat would arise if the guarantee price were not maintained, Mr. Barnes predicted a shrinkage in North American wheat production from the June forecast of "probably 400,000,000 bushels."

With 256,000,000 bushels applying to the United States crop, and also a shrinkage of 300,000,000 bushels in European rye and wheat production outside of Russia. The grain director, however, promised a readjustment in flour prices if later developments hold promise of a world price for wheat below the guarantee figure, with the national treasury to bear the expense.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 6.—County Prosecutor M. Schlesinger, in the name of the state, filed proceedings in Franklin county court today against the Columbus Packing company and the Fairmont Creamery company, for an injunction and a receiver for 161,651 pounds of pork which the prosecutor alleges the creamery company has held in storage for the packing company in excess of the period stated by law and for the purpose of profiteering. The suits filed by the prosecutor and the injunction is unique in that it was the first filed under the new storage law.

The action not only seeks to obtain possession of this property but sell it publicly at the figures at which it was acquired by the Columbus Packing company. The injunction seeks to restrain the defendants from interfering with the property from the time of the petition in any manner whatever. The petition recites that the Columbus Packing company began accumulating the pork in the cold storage plant of the creamery company November 29, 1918, and from that time on in quantities ranging from 454 pounds to 9108 pounds. The defendant gradually accumulated the pork to and including February 5, 1919, when they had accumulated 151,651 pounds, the suit states.

Ottawa Judge Gives Vigorous Charge to Putnam County Grand Jury

ONE OF FIRST JURIES

To Take Up Investigation of High Costs and Result is Watched

OTTAWA, Aug. 6.—Judge J. P. Bailey gave the following instructions to the grand jury, called to investigate the high cost of living. The court called the attention to the high prices of the necessities of life, food, fuel and clothing, including shoes. He said, "notwithstanding the war practically ended Nov. 11, the retail prices of necessities as well as other commodities in most instances, continued to rise in local and other markets. Because present prices are not understood by the busy man or housewife, the loud and general complaint against prevailing conditions should be heard by national, state and local governments, and promptly investigated, and promptly remedied, if reasonably possible."

"Because of these conditions, and with a view of affording relief, the governor and attorney general of the state, requests an investigation to be had by each prosecuting attorney of the state of facts relating to supply and demand, prices, profit methods of business, trust combinations, unfair dealing, extortion and all other things and matters bearing on the cause of the generally prevailing high costs."

Law Aside Politics
"The governor and attorney general are of opposite politics. The members of the grand jury are of different politics. The court calls attention to this in order that all people may fully understand that this investigation has no political aspects, so far as this court is concerned. The court is seeking to have this grand jury find and declare the truth and the truth only in these matters."

Must Use Judgment
"Gentlemen, the court therefore requests that you put aside politics, opinions, business, and patiently and industriously investigate and report to the court in writing, the truth in these matters specially submitted to you. In your report upon this special submission, except in case of indictment, you should not name the persons involved or give names of witnesses. You may, and should state in report, ultimate facts and conditions found by you from evidence adduced before you, or from your own knowledge and judgment as citizens and men of affairs. Your report may be as comprehensive as you desire, but the court requests that it include the following: Cost price paid by local dealers and retail price charged by him at and about date of your investigation, for leading standard and staple articles or goods in the following lines: Poultry, groceries, dry goods, boots and shoes, hardware and paints, coal, ice, grain and hay, meat and other line of business."

Must Answer
"Should any witness refuse to attend in obedience to a subpoena or refuse to answer any questions asked before you, your complaint should be made by you to the court through your foreman or the prosecuting attorney."

For your consideration and guidance, the court calls your attention to Sections 6390, 6391 and 6396 of the General Code of Ohio.

He advised them to carefully consider all the evidence for purpose of ascertaining whether these statutes had been violated.

Uniformity of methods and unreasonably high prices may indicate combinations, understandings or so-called "Gentlemen's Agreements," or only individual extortion of unreasonable profits.

Difference in Price
He then explained the ultimate purpose of finding the difference between the wholesale and retail prices etc. He then said, "Your findings and report include but two matters: 1.—Whether any of the statutes of Ohio have been violated. 2.—The rate of profit in Putnam county of retail dealers in the various necessities and commodities referred to in these instructions."

Subpoena Anyone
"You may subpoena bankers and inquire into the volume of business done by merchants, grocers and shop-keepers for the purpose of ascertaining this probable rate of profit, as well as the prices paid by them for stock in trade. You may subpoena and inquire of clerks and methods and cost and selling prices of various commodities referred to in these instructions."

One of the First
"This is one of the first counties, if not the very first one, to call a grand jury for investigation of the exorbitant prices charged for the necessities of life, and will be watched with care, by other counties who are investigating the same thing."

You Ought to Know!

STORY NO. 8.

Mr. Citizen:—

In this story we are going to endeavor to answer some of the absurd questions and statements which appeared in advertisements published in local newspapers yesterday. The advertisements were signed by "The Citizens' Executive Committee."

The first paragraph says: "The city council of Lima, after employing an expert engineer to survey the city's needs, has recommended installation of 600 lights of 400 candle power in the residence district and boulevard lights in the business section."

Now, has any member of the executive committee taken the time and trouble to ascertain just how much an expert gentleman who made the estimates, is? And, would you, Mr. Citizens' Committee, invest one hundred thousand perfectly good dollars upon the word of a man who we do not know and who has never been investigated? We are not going to endeavor to prove to you in an advertisement whether or not this expert's report is correct, but we ask you to investigate.

Another paragraph says: "The Ohio Electric Railway Company tells you that the proposal is municipal ownership and operation and that municipalities for some reason are unfitted to operate utilities."

Can you, Mr. Citizens' Committee, show us one instance where municipal ownership has been a success insofar as an electric lighting system is concerned? No. Yet, in this series of advertisements we have shown you where hundreds have been failures. Our's is not mere idle talk.

Speaking of the above paragraph, the committee continues: "You know that is not true. You know you are getting water from a municipal plant cheaper than any private utility company can furnish it."

That may be so, but listen to what the editorial writer of The Lima Daily News told the public on January 4, 1919:

"You can't tell much from figures; especially municipal figures. Ask City Hall what the appropriation of $73,313 for the waterworks department means, and City Hall will say it means nothing but a book entry."

"In other words the appropriation of $78,000 is not expense but will be offset by income from the waterworks department. No one can understand it just as it really is; it is, and it isn't. But that isn't what we are talking about."

"The truth of the matter is that the waterworks department never breaks even; it is always an expense and it is always depreciating. The waterworks department is much like an automobile which begins to depreciate as soon as you run it around the block, yet councilmen refuse to discuss the new reservoir any more. One councilman said to The News after the appropriating ordinance, that he wished the city could sell the waterworks to some private concern. A funny wish in these days when the government wants to run the railroads and take over telegraphs and telephones."

"Yet the waterworks can be made a wonderful utility, with lower water rents instead of higher. And Lima needs more water."

A question asked by the Citizens' Committee is: "What is this bond issue you are asked to vote for?"

It answers: "THIS—It provides that the city of Lima shall erect and own the electric street lighting poles on its streets, the wires overhead, and the lighting fixtures on its street corners."

That's nice, Mr. Citizens and Voter. The business section, or in other words the thoroughfares in front of the merchants' stores, will be lighted with nice ornamental poles and lights, while you will have another pole in front of your home. That little grass plot at the edge of your side walk will be confiscated to bury part of a pole in.

Another statement, speaking of the above paragraph, says:—"that's what the Ohio Electric calls 'municipal ownership.'"

The statement confesses that the city will own the poles, wires and fixtures. Isn't that a municipal system? If not, what is it? However, we'll let Mr. Noah Webster decide. You'll take his word, won't you. Here is what he says:

"Municipalize: To bring under municipal oversight or control, as municipalized industry." That's perfectly plain, isn't it?

In concluding the advertisement, the committee says: "We ask that Lima protect her own pocketbook from the hands of corporations—that's all."

Now that's good advice. But why not protect the city against all concerns charging exorbitant prices? That is what officials of the country, state, county and municipality are right at this moment endeavoring to do. Compare the rates received by The Ohio Electric Railway Company five years ago with the rate received today. Now compare the price of goods sold you by merchants five years ago with the price you are paying for an inferior quality. Some difference, isn't there?

The State Utilities Commission regulates the charges made by corporations, but the merchant regulates his own price. From which are you protected?

We are going to sign this advertisement. WHY DOESN'T THE CITIZENS' EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE SIGN THEIRS?

LACES--

Will Be Popular
NEW YORK shops, and the fashions that tailors new gowns are preparing for Fall and Winter, are using laces in a style as lavish as the days of Louis XIV which is known in history as the age of pomp and splendor.

Beautiful laces of all kinds are being used in the most beautiful designs and which are adding attractiveness to each and every garment.

Some whole gowns are being made of lace, exquisite negligees, boudoir caps, evening hats and in some cases even rosettes will finish the daintiest pumps.

An evening at a recent Broadway success revealed an opera cape of silver tissue covered with exquisite cream and black lace and edged with wide bands of seal.

For the first time in many years the demand of laces are exceeding the supply of the country.

Our lace department is complete with fine laces of all kinds and which are moderately priced.

Better Electric Service

NEXT TUESDAY the voters of Lima will have a very important question to settle at the polls when they pass upon the so-called municipal ownership of the electric lighting system of the city. There are many arguments for and against the proposition and every voter must make up his own mind how to mark his ballot.

Yesterday in the Times the Citizens Executive Committee presented a very telling argument for the proposal. The committee says that it is only proposed that the city of Lima shall erect and own the street lighting poles on its streets, the wires overhead and the lighting fixtures on the street corners. Then having installed its own distributing equipment the city may receive bids from all comers for the furnishing of the "juice."

The Western Ohio has a large plant at St. Marys and might be willing to make a bid. Other companies might be interested.

The committee makes the very telling point that Lima has been at the mercy of the Ohio Electric and that this company has always consistently given the city the worst of it.

The Times is not an advocate of municipal ownership, because it has seen so many failures. Anyone who drinks Lima city water will not be howling in favor of the city owning anything.

But at the same time there is an unusual situation here that may be best solved by Lima's owning its own electrical equipment. The Ohio Electric has fallen down on everything it is supposed to do for Lima. A recital of its miserable failures here is not necessary. Everyone knows about them.

The fact of the matter is the people of Lima would welcome the change of ownership of both electrical plant and street car line to other hands. This sentiment is expressed on every hand.

And it may result in a sharp victory for the municipal ownership plan at the polls next week.

Make your own choice!

Some "Economy" Here

MANY ITEMS that go to make up the staggering total of $55,000,000 in the appropriation bill of the Republican General Assembly show that the "economy" legislature had practically everything else in mind except economy.

The senate clerk's force has been increased by an $1,800 job and a $1,200 job, making two more than ever before. These positions are year round posts. The force in the office of the clerk of the house has been increased by an $1,800 place which no former organization included. And the only excuse for the extra positions created is that they are useful in taking care of the faithful.

The public is familiar with the old Howe's history graft which this legislature reinaugurated after it was driven out a number of years ago and which adds many thousands of dollars to the state's bill of expense. That is not all in the book line either. The legislature expended something like $13,000 for Ohio Archeological reports in book form. It has been customary to have this done every six or seven years. It was taken care of two years ago and this expense could have been saved. But not by the "economy" legislature. The books were ordered and each member receives five seats. Great stuff!

Now comes another. This one is the Ohio legislative history with something like ten sets for each member. Their pictures in it, b'gosh, as the well known watcher of the stars would say. This bet only cost $3,000. No doubt the tax payers will not mind a little item of that sort. The same legislature found that a similar history was authorized two years ago but the legislature trimmed the item to pay for it out of the appropriations. To show the extreme generosity of the present legislature, it passed a bill authorizing the payment of $3,600 for the legislative history in the former session.

And so runs the whole bill. The grand total is ten millions over and above the appropriation bill of the last legislature and sets a new record in expenditures.

With the records all broken for spending the public's money the legislature went home not to return until Dec. 1st, and without providing for the raising of this vast sum. Maybe the leaders of the majority party expect the good fairies to drift this way with a bundle of coin or else to discover the whereabouts of Aladdin's lamp.

Boost the Business You Are In

BOOST THE business you are in—or get out of it. If you are not proud of it, you think there is a better business to be engaged in, then you are making a mistake in remaining in it. Whether it is law or medicine, or a dry goods store or a grocery, whether it is a manufacturing plant engaged in the steel industry or a saw mill—whatever you are working at you ought to consider the real thing to be engaged in.

It isn't what the other fellow thinks of your occupation or your work—it is what you think of it that counts. You are the one who has to live with it. If it is distasteful to you, then you are going to fail. But you can succeed, if you are satisfied with your position, regardless of whether somebody else is satisfied with it or not.

Boost the business you are in, and don't apologize. If you have to apologize to your friends for the business, or the way it is conducted, or for the people engaged in it, then you may know that you are in the wrong business. There is no better test, especially for a young fellow who is just embarking. There are, in human history no records of successful men who apologized for the business in which they were succeeding.

HAPPY THOUGHT: The cellar is the place of refuge these days when storms arise—and thirst begins!

With the Cincinnati Reds leading the gang and a son of our old favorite trotter winning every week in the Grand Circuit we don't know anything we have to ask for in the sport world, thank you!

And Hawk Creek keeps on in its scented way, as of old, a tribute to an efficient Republican administration.

GOOD EVENING—Things have changed so in this country that when a rich bachelor has nephews they will come miles to crank his automobile for him.

WHAT SCIENCE DOES ABOUT
WORMS OF DIVERSE KINDSBy DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG
A. B. M. A., M. D. (John Hopkins University)

There are pin worms, round worms, tape worms and similar evidences of dirt and of uncooked victuals, but they are much rarer than mothers, aunts, grandmothers and other swift guessers at untruths would have you believe.

Very often, if a child is restless, irritable, squirms and twists, or if it jerks and jumps or drops things easily, the mother commonly says to herself or is told by equally benighted neighbors: "The child has worms." At once, and far from the truth, she follows her erroneous diagnosis with various doses of "worm medicines." If the child was not sick before, it almost certainly is now.

The way the best doctors determine the presence of worms is by no such absurd guesswork. Indeed, you may set it down as a fact derived from the experience of wise physicians that there is only one way to know or to learn of the presence of worms, namely, to see them.

A child or grown-up has no worms unless they can be seen. There are no symptoms of "worms." Restlessness and disturbances blamed on them are generally traceable to St. Vitus dance, chorea, adenoids, inflammations, jaundice, constipation, need of more sleep, too much meat or something else. Worms have few signs other than their unwelcome appearance.

Worms sometimes find their way into the stomach, intestines, ears, throat, nose and other cavities of children and grown-ups from contaminated food or water or from hands soiled with dirt which contains the eggs. Common house flies pick up the eggs and may redeposit them almost anywhere. Mice, rats, other house animals frequently carry the eggs or embryos of worms around.

The eggs may be very small and migrate to the liver, lungs, spleen and elsewhere. They may leave these quarters and ultimately return to the alimentary tube again to pass out of the intestines as eggs, embryos or adult worms.

Obviously, cereals and many other foods may easily pick up the eggs of round or pin worms. One person in every 200 who does not live a sanitary life and bathe every day has been found to harbor the round worms. The Bureau of Animal Industry in this country, and the English Medical Service, East Indian branch, agree on these facts.

The eggs, when swallowed, soon hatch out, and the embryo worms begin to wander hither and thither for a week or so before they settle down. Then their considerable growth and development prevent much further movement. Man is not a pleasant or hospitable host to worms, so they soon pass out. If perchance they enter the lungs children pneumonia may be set up by them.

The treatment for round worms or ascariis as they are called is the following:

Fluid extract of -pisolia or senna in a dose of two to three drams, or oil of chenopodium in a dose of five to 20 drops on sugar. If spigelia is used without the senna it should be followed two to four hours by a dose of castor oil to sweep out the worms.

The treatment of pin worms is a rectal injection of an infusion of quassia to kill them.

For tape worms take one tablespoonful of epsom salts, which should be followed six hours later by a dose of mal fern, one dram. This should be followed six hours later by an other dose of the salts. While using the medicine nothing should be taken except a little thin milk or coffee.

Answers to Health Questions.

F. A. Q.—What can I do for warts?

A—Many warts require more radical treatment, such as a little caustic soda, salicylic acid, 1 dram to the ounce of collodion, or the surgeon's lance.

SORRY. Q—What can I do for bow legs?

A—The only cure for bow legs is an operation. Sometimes if the person is not too old massage will help to straighten the legs.

MRS. E. F. W. Q—What can I do for eczema?

A—Apply a little of the following to the affected parts:

Salicylic 15 grains
Balsam peru 1 dram
Phenol 15 drops
Sulphur 1 dram
Petrolatum 1/2 ounce
Wool fat 1/2 ounce

I. S. Q—Is it dangerous for me and the rest of the children to eat and drink of the same dishes with my father who suffers with asthma?

A—It is not dangerous, but it is dirty and unsanitary. No two persons should ever do so, or ever use the same combs, brushes or linens.

T. H. A. Q—What shall I do for a catarrh?

A—Often examination of the nose by a nose and throat surgeon will reveal deflected bones, tumorous growths, adenoids, infected tonsils and other things, which a slight operation will correct.

B. C. F. Q—What causes an enlarged liver?

A—An enlarged liver may have its source in liquor bibbing, gluttony, heart insufficiency and a dozen different things. Gallstones, bile obstructions, heart congestion, liquor drinking, over-eating and kidney maladies can cause it.

UP-TO-DATE SOLDIER

Chairman Baruch of the War Industries board, said at a Washington banquet:

"I was brought up to consider that it was impossible for a soldier to carry an umbrella. A soldier with an umbrella seemed as absurd to me as a soldier with a fan."

"Well, the other day, in a deluge of rain, I beheld a soldier, a big umbrella over him, stepping along briskly. I stopped my car and said:

"Young man, this is the first time I ever saw a soldier with an umbrella."

"Well, boss," he answered, "maybe it's the first time you ever saw a real, live up-to-date soldier."—Detroit Free Press

EARLY OHIO IMPROVEMENTS.

So rapidly did internal improvements follow the opening up of the west that in 1803—the year following the admission of Ohio to the Union—a Rev. Thaddeus Mason Harris of Boston, making a trip to Marietta, Ohio, was able to come as far as Wheeling in his own carriage. He had a story, no doubt, to tell his friends and neighbors back in New England about the development of the west that must have been a revelation to them.

To this day we meet eastern people with inadequate ideas of conditions prevailing in the middle west; it must have been pronounced then. In 1838 Tom Corwin, making a speech in congress in support of a bill for an appropriation for carrying the national road further toward the west, used these eloquent words:

"Some gentlemen (I speak it in no spirit of pride or vain boasting), some gentlemen from the old states might learn something new to them in the history of civilization, would they but visit that western world of which they often seem to me to know so little. They might see, in the very spot where but yesterday the wild beasts of the wilderness seized their prey by night and made their covert lair by day, on that same spot today stands the common school house filled alike with the children of the rich and poor, those children who are to be the future voters, officers and statesmen of the republic. Over that vast region so lately red with the blood of savage war, the seed-fields of knowledge are planted and a smiling harvest of civilization springs up; and there, too, might be seen what a Christian statesman might admire. The schoolmaster is not alone. The holy religion which is at last the only sure basis of permanent social or political improvement has there its voices crying in the wilderness."

"Upon the almost burning embers of the warfare, round which but yesterday some barbarous chief recounted to his listening tribe with horrid exultation, his deeds of savage heroism, today is built a temple dedicated to that religion which announces 'peace on earth and good will toward men.'"

An inventor has patented a small frame to be set in a window of an enclosed automobile and covered with a loose sheet of transparent material, through which a driver can thrust a hand for signaling.

Porto Rico ships ninety per cent of its products to the United States, and receives ninety-two per cent or a slightly larger share of its imports from this country. The total value of Porto Rico's export and import trade in 1918 was $137,500,000, or $110 per capita.

OUR BED-TIME STORY

FOR TINY TIMES-DEMOCRAT FOLKS

Jack was still thinking about the ruins, and what great sport it would be to get some of the boys together and play robber among them, when he went to bed that night.

The next morning he asked Lady-dear and the queen if he might not set some of the peasant boys to join him in a game in the old tumble-down castle. They told him he might go, so Jack started off to get the boys. Jane and Jeanne were told they might visit some of the little girls in the cottages. In a short time Jack and his friends were having a great time among the ruins.

It all happened so quickly that Jack didn't have time to get scared. As soon as the door shut Jack stepped quietly out of his hiding place and started to rejoin the boys. All of a sudden he stopped dead in his tracks and said right out loud, "I'll bet that those were two of the men who are robbing the castle. That is either the way they get into the castle or where they hide during the day."

When Jack joined the boys he told them what he had seen. They thought he was joking at first, but he was so serious about it that they finally believed him.

"We must hustle right back to the castle now so that I can tell King Charles and the rest of the folks," said Jack.

When the boys arrived at the castle they found everything was excitement. After Jack had left the servants in the castle had found that once more the robbers had entered during the night and stolen several thousand dollars worth of stuff.

When Jack told his story the king immediately called some of his guards and told them what Jack had seen.

"Do you think you could lead these men back there after dark, if they showed you the way up to the ruins?" asked the king of Jack.

"Yes, sir," answered Jack.

"Then," said the king, turning to his men, "as soon as it is dark we will go up to the ruins and watch that door."

He arranged for others of the guard to remain at the castle to protect it and the queen, Lady-dear and the girls. Captain Brave had charge of the guards at the castle. Jack could hardly wait for nine to come.

STOP THE AUTO THIEF!

Give Us a Federal Law With Teeth In It

Something must be done to halt or stop the theft of motor cars and motorcycles and motor equipment. It is costing millions of dollars and a large number of men to trace stolen motor vehicles. It increases the first cost and increases the yearly maintenance cost of motor cars. Insurance premiums have been placed at excessive figures because of such stealing, and the future indicates that unless some protective measure with teeth in it appears they will still further increase. Motor car and motorcycle thieves are occupying too much time and causing too much worry for motor owners. It is teaching crime, because it has been an easy matter to steal and dispose of a motor car with punishment prospects light even in extremes.

Close to a million dollars, if not in excess of that sum, is spent yearly in tracing stolen motor cars; a large number of men are engaged in this business who could be doing something more profitable for their community.

Motor car and motorcycle stealing has increased insurance rates, and there is every indication that unless something is done the insurance companies will be forced to still further advance theft premiums.

MOTHERS TO BE

Should Read Mrs. Monahan's Letter Published by Her Permission.

Mitchell, Ind.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me so much during the time I was looking forward to the coming of my little one that I am recommending it to other expectant mothers. Before taking it, some days I suffered with neuralgia so badly that I thought I could not live, but after taking three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was entirely relieved of neuralgia. I had gained in strength and was able to go around and do all my housework. My baby when seven months old weighed 19 pounds and I feel better than I have for a long time. I never had any medicine do me so much good."—Mrs. PEARL MONAHAN, Mitchell, Ind.

Good health during maternity is a most important factor to both mother and child, and many letters have been received by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., telling of health restored during this trying period by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Three large rooms on the first floor were cleared for the dancers. Devoted to the dancing all the young ladies were taken to one end of the large room, where there were dainty little Japanese fans attached to brightly colored cords. The entire room was made into a web of colored cords, and each young lady was made to find her way to the other end of the cord where she found her partner for the first dance. On each of the small lights surrounding the rooms there were dainty little Japanese lanterns hung, while in the center of the largest room, there was hung a mammoth lantern. There were garden flowers everywhere, and the oriental scene was further enhanced by the incense, which burned during the entire evening.

A Chance to Live

(By Zoe Beckley)

THE POSTPONEMENT

There was silence for a minute then.

"What's wrong, Annie—don't you like me well enough? Ain't I a good enough match? What's the matter?"

"Oh, Bernie—Annie snuggled up a little, holding tightly to his arm as if to keep him from starting away when she told her serious reason. 'My folks need what I'm earning. It we got married so soon who'd take care of them? I'll—I'll have to go on a little while—just till things are easier home.'"

"She felt the current of disappointment, of reaction that passed through him, just as plainly as though he had said something to express his impatience. So, she was right, he was going to be disappointed. She ceased in his silence, in the way he quickened his walk."

"You've got your grandmother, too, Bernie," she urged. "She looks to you for everything, just like my people do. Hadn't we better have a little longer engagement? Things'll take a turn. And maybe there'll be some new arrangement home, or something. I'm going to get a raise, first of the year. Maybe Aunt Margaret will, too—and you, and all of us. And you'll make good in lots of ways." She could feel a tiny picking up of cheeriness now in his manner. She had touched the right note—the note of his self-confidence.

His natural goodness of heart reinforced his willingness to "let it go at that, then," and they parted lingeringly on the doorstep, in both their hearts the glamor of youth and love.

But Annie did not deceive herself. It would have to be a long wait, unless a miracle happened.

When the first of the year came Bernie Carroll asked "old man Simm" for a raise—and got it. He now had twenty-two dollars a week. Sometimes he made two or three extra dollars in the "pools," he and his cronies formed for the purpose of "taking fliers" in the chemical stocks they all knew about.

WILL PLAY HERE LAST OF MONTH

MISS BETTY TURNER

Miss Betty Turner, who plays the charming adventures in George M. Cohen's success, "Seven Keys to Baldpate," to be presented by the Victory Chautauque when they appear here the latter part of August, was born in England and educated in France. Her father was an American. Miss Turner decided early in life that the stage was the profession she would follow, and began while in France by playing child parts.

Among some of her more recent successes, are a season under the Henry Savage management in "Playthings," a French part in "It Pays to Advertise," Vera, in "The Melting Pot," and this season, "Victoire," another French part in the success of the season, "The Better 'Ole," with Macklyn Arbuckle and DeWolf Hopper.

QUIET WEDDING

A quiet wedding of Tuesday, was that of Miss Myrtle Edith Kruse, a nurse at St. Rita's hospital, and Dr. Harry Philip Basinger, brother of Dr. A. F. Basinger, of West Market street, which occurred at eleven o'clock at the parsonage of the Reverend J. Allen Canby, pastor of the Central Church of Christ. They were attended by Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Basinger, and left immediately after the ceremony for their new home in Aberdeen, South Dakota, where the bridegroom is a practicing physician.

Mrs. Frank Baxter and children, Helen and Samuel, of West High street, will leave Friday for Clear Lake, Indiana, where they will remain until the latter part of August.

Miss Leona and Miss Lydia Young, of Detroit, have gone to Muncie, Indiana, after visiting here with Mrs. K. G. Johnson, of West Spring street, for several days.

IV.—QUESTION MARRIAGE

Paul had a business engagement next morning, so instead of rising to breakfast with him, I chose to have my tray in bed. I lay there in the dainty ivory bed with the old-blue brocade drapery and watched the sunlight streaming in the windows. In the mirror opposite I could see my own reflection in lacey breakfast cap and rose-tinted negligee. There were flowers on my tray and the appointments were of the finest and daintiest. Marriage meant that I should have these things always.

I had not been wealthy before my marriage. My parents' home was comfortable and in good taste, observing all the little niceties of culture and daintiness without heavy cost. My college education had been achieved without serious drain upon the family resources and had proved ample excuse for the omission of a formal "coming out."

Once I was launched in society, slipping in without ostentation on the wave of some fashionable fad (suffrage, I believe it was, or Diet Kitchens for Infants' Welfare), men had made the way easy for me to move in a stratum quite beyond my means. They liked me and saw that I was asked everywhere. Women liked me because I always had a trail of men whom I was willing to share. I never had to pay for a luncheon or a theatre or a taxicab. All this had its injurious reaction, for it gave me a false dependence upon luxury.

Openly boasting a heart upon which only a lapidary could make an impression, I was frankly in the market for a successful marriage. I cultivated a flippancy of manner, a certain daring line of conversation which men demand of a good companion. Association with men taught me all the little alluring tricks. It gave me also a spirit of comradeship which constitutes a woman's greatest appeal.

Men were my friends first, last and always, even when they loved me. And that is something no woman, especially no wife, can ever afford to forget. Ambrosia is too rarefied a diet for any male. He will thrive on it better when it is merely substituted occasionally for corned beef hash.

But, in turn, I came to depend upon the stimulus of masculine society. Each man contributed some characteristic which the other lacked, and the composite whole was dangerously delightful. A popular girl is always something of a sultana. She has a sort of intellectual barren from which to choose the companion which fits her mood. It is a bad basis for matrimony, where one man must be all things to a woman.

I was beginning to experience the ill-effects of my pre-marital diet. I had not yet reached the point when I was bored with Paul's companionship, but I wanted the admiration of more than one man. I had found an absurd pleasure in Victor's chatter the night before—out of all proportion to my previous regard for him.

BRIDGE PARTY.

Complimenting another popular summer visitor, Miss Nora Sprague, of New York City, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace King entertained with bridge Tuesday evening at their home, "Hickory Top," in Shawnee. Mrs. Homer Hughes and Dr. C. A. Black were each presented with a hand some gift at the conclusion of the game when they held high score. A delicious buffet luncheon was served following the games. Mrs. King assisted during the evening by her mother, Mrs. Harry Wright, Mrs. Homer Hughes, Mrs. Fred Gooding, Mrs. Holmes Mackenzie and Miss Hazel Wright.

Flowers were everywhere, and were mostly of the garden variety, while tables for play were placed in the long living room. Mrs. King was especially attractive and pre- sident in her usual graceful manner. It was such a delightful affair, and so thoroughly enjoyable that everyone was loathe to leave when the time for departure came.

Mr. and Mrs. King's guests in- cluded Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Black Dr. and Mrs. Guy Bayly, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hughes and their guest Ralph Souers, of El Paso, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gooding, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Mackenzie, Mr. and Mrs. T. McLaughlin, Miss Halse Hutchinson Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mitchell, Miss Gertrude Finley, Miss Hazel Wright, Miss Gertrude Hunter, of Norristown, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. T. R. ATTRACTIVE LUNCHEON.

Misses Mary, Katherine, Martha and Annette Roby, of West Market street, paid a pretty compliment to an attractive visitor from Kentucky, Miss Elizabeth Turley, who is visit- ing Miss Margaret Gregg, of West North street, when they invited a few friends to luncheon at the Country club Wednesday noon. A color scheme of blue and gold was carried out, those being the predom- inating colors in the large plat of garden flowers centering the table, while nut baskets and place cards were in the same clever combina- tions.

Covers were laid for Miss Turley, Miss Gregg, Miss Florence Price, Miss Mary Parmenter, Miss Martha Andrews, Mrs. Seward Folsom and the Misses Roby.

Miss Bertha Falk, of West Cir- cular street, has gone to Newport, Ky., where she will be the guest of relatives.

Mrs. Lydia Miller, of Greenville, Ohio, returned to her home after visiting friends here.

RAINBOW TEA

One of the prettiest parties for many a day was Tuesday when Miss Florence Price was the charm- ing hostess to a number of friends, when she entertained with a hand- somely appointed tea for the pleas- ure of Miss Margaret Gregg's house- guest, Miss Elizabeth Turley, of Richmond, Kentucky.

It was a rainbow tea, the access- ories of each table being carried out in a different color scheme, the head table, or that where was seated Miss Turley, Miss Gregg, Miss Price and Miss Helen Basinger, be- ing in the delicate shades of pink and blue. Another was in lavender and pink, while another was in American beauty and pale green. The place cards at each table were in floral designs, the color of each corresponding to the color of the cups, while each table was centered with a dainty cut glass basket of garden flowers. Larger bowls of golden flowers were placed throughout the rooms, where the guests spent the evening knitting and chatting.

Miss Catherine Galvin, and Miss Josephine Purtscher, daintily clad in pale summery frocks faultlessly served the tea.

Guests were Miss Turley, Miss Gregg, Miss Magdalene S. Olzen- bach, Miss Fawn Parent, Miss An- nette Roby, Miss Mary Katherine, and Miss Martha Roby, Miss Elsie Weikelbaum, Miss Helen Basinger, Miss Mary Parmenter, Miss Rowen Kahle, Miss Nellie Bigley, Miss Ger- trude Boose, Miss Margaret Gra- ham, Miss Helen Hunter, Miss Elsie Cunningham, Miss Gertrude Spannagel, Mrs. Seward Folsom, Miss Marian Dunn, Miss Alice Bell, Mrs. Walter Renz, Miss Hazel Wright, Miss Beatrice Sherwood, Miss Josephine Sherwood, Miss Mar- ian Sullivan, Miss Violet Bradley, and her house guest, Miss Eliza- beth Woodward.

How Nuxated Iron Helped Put Me In Such Superb Condition As To Enable Me To Whip Jess Willard And Win The World's Championship

JACK DEMPSEY "TIGER OF THE RING"

Tells a Secret of His Training-- Recommends Nuxated Iron To Every Man and Woman Who Wants To Build Greater Strength, Energy and Power

Today recognized as the phys- ical superior to any living man-- the Superman of the Age--Jack Dempsey, Heavyweight Cham- pion of the world, explains be- low the part Nuxated Iron played in helping to prepare him for the supreme test of his career. In his decisive, smashing victory over the mighty Willard who had never before been knocked from his feet, Dempsey displayed a dynamic overwhelming strength and power never before known in the history of the ring. That he took Nuxated Iron as a part of his training is con- vincing evidence of the importance Dempsey attached to keeping his blood rich in strength-giving iron, and the high regard in which he holds Nuxated Iron as a master strength and blood builder.

Accord- reports Dempsey, used him- self unmercifully in the hands of expert trainers and competent physicians and heeded their advice. In his opinion whoever made the suggestion that Nuxated Iron should play a part in getting Dempsey into condition (to be com- mended for his foresight). No man without plenty of rich, red blood filled with health-giving and strength building iron could withstand the terrific on- slaughts of a giant like Willard. It should occur to every thinking person that if a man as physically fit as Dempsey should consider it advisable to take Nuxated Iron, how much more important it is for the aver- age man or woman to see that there is no lack of iron in the blood. There is today a surprising number of persons who suffer from iron deficiency. Many a capable man or woman falls just short of winning be- cause they don't back up their mental with the physical strength and energy which comes from having plenty of iron in the blood. Iron deficiency is a condition which makes a man a physical and mental weakling, nervous, irritable, easily fatigued, but it utterly robs him of that vital force, that stamina and directness of will which are so necessary to success and power in every walk of life. It may also transform a beautiful, sweet- tempered woman into one who is cross, nervous and irritable. To help make strong, keen, red-blooded Americans there is nothing so valuable as organic iron--Nuxated Iron. Dr. John J. Van Horne, formerly Medical Inspector and Clinical Physician on the Board of Health of the City of New York, says: "Strength and vitality of body and mind are derived from the blood and the blood in turn derives it from the food we eat and the oxygen contained in the air we breathe. But unless the blood is rich in iron to increase its oxygen power, it cannot develop living tissue muscle and brain or keep active the vital forces. Strong, healthy men and women with plenty of iron in their blood are the ones who go through life with a smile, self-reliant and fearless and their dynamic power and energy make them virtually masters of their own destinies. It is sur- prising how many people who do not get along in life are in reality suffer- ing from iron deficiency and they don't know it. To supply this lack of iron and help build stronger, healthier men and women, better able physically to meet the problems of everyday life, I be- lieve that physicians should, at every op- portunity, prescribe organic iron--Nuxated Iron--for in my experience it is one of the best tonic and red blood builders known to medical science."

William Harrison ("Jack") Dempsey-- Although like an untamed tiger in the ring, the intensely human side of the new World's Champion is clearly shown by a remark he is quoted as making just before the big fight, in which he said: "I have tele- graphed my Mother that I will win the championship and I am not going to disappoint her. I'm going to win that title for no other reason than because I've promised her I would."

Dempsey describes here the part Nuxated Iron played in helping him to keep his promise to win the title.

Nuxated Iron: Nuxated Iron which has been used by Jack Dempsey the world's champion boxer, is a pure organic iron which is well known to doctors everywhere. Unlike the cheap iron tonics, which are full of harmful chemicals, Nuxated Iron is pure and does not harm the stomach, make them black, nor upon the blood. It is the only iron tonic which is so easily absorbed and which results in a permanent increase in the blood. It is the only iron tonic which is so easily absorbed and which results in a permanent increase in the blood. It is the only iron tonic which is so easily absorbed and which results in a permanent increase in the blood.

Oh, Boy! Merchants to Have a Chicken Dinner at Elida

Lima people have always taken a great interest in the Pioneer picnics featured at Elida. Growing in in- terest from year to year they have become almost national in scope.

Old settlers whether in New York, or San Francisco, in New Orleans or away up in the Maine woods shoot- ing and fishing always time their home coming to show up at the big doings at Elida on the second Thurs- day in August. Members of the Lima Retail Merchants Association at their Tuesday morning meeting determined to celebrate on August 14th with their suburban friends at the Pioneer picnic, and will attend en masse. They will take their fam- ilies and friends out in the afternoon, celebrate the day with a big 6 o'clock chicken dinner, complimenting the women of the party designating it "Ladies Night."

Real Chicken

The ladies of the church at Elida who serve the visitors will add enough to this year's mid-day lunch- eon menu to feed from 100 to 150 hungry merchants and entertainment purveyors, and for the evening din- ner will be commissioned to serve their most famous spread--the one of which native chicken with noodles, fluffy mashed potatoes and gravy, hot biscuits from the nucleus--and this one will be formal; for the ladies are to be the guests of honor. For this evening dinner it will be necessary says Secretary Morton, to provide tickets at $1.00 each, which may be secured at the Enterprise drug store, headquarters of the en- tertainment committee. And to get one's name in pot he suggests Ad- vertising Chairman Keltner at the earliest possible moment of the num- ber desired. A committee is prepar- ing an identification badge, showing just who these extra guests of Pion- eer picnic day are.

200 in Delegation

It is estimated that there will be at least 200 people in the Lima Mer- chants delegation; and they are go- ing with the determination of having a good time. It is possible commu- nity singing will be a feature; the several popular songs on the menu card to be used on "Ladies Night."

Merchants and members of the Lima Suburban Day Association an- ticipate the day with great pleasure; for it is one of the few opportunities they might enjoy of frolicking with their neighbors and friends on the outskirts of town.

FINDS BURGLAR

Brushing against a burglar in the house was the exciting experi- ence of Miss Grace Spellacy, 528 West North street, Tuesday night. Miss Spellacy was getting a drink and did not see the man as he downstairs was unlighted. Police were called and searched the neigh- borhood, but no trace of the bur- truder was found.

The story deals with a chorus girl who marries a poor soldier rather than wed a millionaire for whom she had been angling for a long while until she met Pettigrew. The photoplay is one of exceptional interest and the supporting players headed by Monte Blue are clever in their respective portrayals.

The Pathe News and James Montgomery Flagg's clever comedy, "The Immovable Guest," are added features of the bill. Last times tonight.

AT THE RIALTO

"I say, old cocky, isn't it perfectly killing how the dally British chappies with titles to their monickers get such an absolute pash for the dashed American grilles? Eh? What?"

"I mean to say, don'tcherknow, it's getting rawer thick when the blooming blue-eyed boys of the aristocracy barter their titles for the jolly American dollar. What?"

"It's this way, old dear. I toldled into a cinema-shop and squinted at a bally movie which showed a dashed British earl who had doffed his soup and fish and gone staggering over the blooming country. 'In Search of Arcady'."

ORPHEUM.

A large house saw that ever popular farce comedy, "Peck's Bad Boy," at the Orpheum this afternoon. The children fairly screamed with delight while the grownup folks enjoyed themselves more this season than ever on account of the new version of this show, bubbling over with more fun, music, singing and dancing than ever.

Chas. Flemm, as Peck's Bad Boy, is a whole show in himself and is ably assisted by a large and well selected cast. Many new musical numbers have been written especially for this show by Irving Berlin, the famous composer, who put forth his best efforts. The evening show starts at 8 15 o'clock.

Of course, you will be there and prepare yourself for many hearty laughs and see one of the most successful musical shows of the season. Tonight only, at the Orpheum.

DELPHOS

BOY BADLY HURT
IN BICYCLE CRASH

DELPHOS, Aug. 5.—Lawrence Fritz, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fritz, of 457 South Pierce street, fell while riding on North Scott street at 12.30 p. m. Sunday, when his bicycle struck a small stone. He was riding slowly at the time, but the front wheel turned suddenly when it struck the stone and he was thrown to the ground.

The handle bars struck him below the stomach and it is thought that he suffered internal injuries.

The body of Henry Metzger arrived in Delphos from California Monday morning and was taken to the home of his mother, Mrs. John Metzger on South Brecken street.

A letter giving particulars of his death has been received by his sister, Mrs. Otto Hemme. Mr. Metzger had been making his home in Oakland, Calif. for a number of years. He had started from that city on a hunting trip on Thursday, July 24, and was driving a new car which he had just purchased. The letter states that in some manner the car turned turtle, while on a mountain grade.

The Delphos Farming company has disposed of its farm on Lincoln Highway, three miles west of Delphos. It contains 320 acres and was sold Saturday to George Reed of five miles east of Van Wert for $61,000 or $200 an acre. The deal was made by Jenkins & Jenkins of this city.

Mr. Reed is president of the Middle Point Equity Exchange company.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Foster passed away at her home at 315 South Pierce street Sunday, her death being due to tuberculosis. She had been ill for about one year but had been able to be up and about until twelve weeks ago when she was forced to take to her bed. From that time she continued to grow weaker up to the time of her death.

The Middle Point Equity Exchange Company is erecting a large elevator at that place. It will be one of the most completely equipped in this vicinity. It is being erected just east of the elevator they purchased several years ago of H. G. Pollock. It is now nearing completion.

CONTEST OF HORSE
SHOE PITCHING FANS

WAPAKONETA, Aug. 5.—Sunday afternoon, at the big Auglaize County Fair Grounds Jacob Shepline, John Richards, George Tobias, August Dieringer, Jerry Lane, Harvey Naylor, Alex. Gross, John Krieger, Herman Rhinehart, Dave Brown and Louis Nuss were actors in a horse shoe pitching contest, getting ready for the events to be staged at the fair the coming fall.

In the finals Jacob Shepline won first honors, Alex. Gross second, and George Tobias third. The sensation of the afternoon was the performance of George Tobias in defeating Jerry Lane, the winner of first honors at the fair last year, by a score of 21 to 5.

Farmers in this vicinity are reporting that the hickory-nut crop is going to be surprisingly bountiful. If this should turn out to be the case it will be unusual, for the hickory-nuts have not been good for a good number of years. They also report that they are not wormy. They say that the mild weather this section of the country had last winter had something to do with it. Walnuts, for the most part, are reported to be about the same as last year—a small yield.

Everything is all set for the opening of Chautauqua, Tuesday afternoon L. A. Mayer, of Salem, Ohio, the Chautauqua Superintendent, is here, and with him a crew of five young men, namely, E. M. Crawford, of Ashland, Kentucky, George Leasure, of Postoria, Albert Rosenthal, of Cincinnati, and H. W. Kerner of Wheeling, West Virginia.

VAN WERT

THREE ARE HELD
FOR THEFT OF AUTO

VAN WERT, Aug. 5.—Following investigation, Floyd Rothe and May Rothermel were arrested at the Hotel Newton and Russell Newport at Delphos an hour later for the theft of a Ford automobile from Arthur Ruhl at Wabash, Ind. A fourth member of the party escaped.

Early in the day the car was observed by Sheriff Sells and his suspicions were aroused as to its ownership. Investigation showed that the party of four people, who claimed to own it were stopping at the Hotel Newton and had made efforts to trade the car or sell it. As the license tags were from Indiana, Sheriff Sells called Indianapolis and found that the number had been issued to another party, supposedly from Marion, Ind. Further communication with the officers at Marion, Ind., disclosed that the Wabash, Ind., was the probable place of the ownership of the car and when officials in that city were called they established the identity of the car as belonging to Ruhl. The engine number was the guide used by Sheriff Sells in identifying the car.

The Stolzenbach Bakery truck from Lima and a taxi cab driven by Donald Conn, collided at the corner of Walnut and Central avenues Monday morning, both machines being damaged. The Conn taxi was struck broadside and badly smashed. No one was injured.

Albert Siders of North Race street taken into custody following the robbery at the home of the Misses Duncan, will be arraigned this afternoon for breaking a parole. Judge Balyeat recently placed the lad on probation, after sentencing him to the Boy's Industrial school, near Lancaster, on a charge of stealing a pair of shoes.

CELINA

DEATH FOLLOWS A
PARALYTIC STROKE

CELINA, Aug. 5.—Samuel Jacob Carter died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ward Preston, three miles east of Montesuma.

Mr. Carter sustained a paralytic stroke several days ago in Celina. He was found unconscious in his room and was later conveyed to the daughter's home where he died.

He was 67 years of age and had lived in Celina for the past eight years. He was employed by the state to keep the concrete roads in this county in repair.

W. O. Hoffman, rural carrier on Celina R. D. 7, has sold War Savings Stamps, since the first of May, in the sum of $18,695. Mr. Hoffman will be the only carrier from Mercer county to enjoy the trip to Macinac Island given to the winners in this contest. Five or six other carriers from this county had entered the race.

ST. MARYS

YOUNG MEN HURT
IN AUTO ACCIDENT

ST. MARYS, Aug. 6.—Driving a small Saxon roadster, Henry Martin, Dewey Harschberger, Vernon Hoagland and Lawrence Archbach were principals, Saturday evening, in an accident which occurred about one mile this side of New Bremen, at a point where the bridge spans a small creek. The details of the accident were not learned except that the machine struck the bridge and turned a complete somersault into the creek. Henry Martin sustained a fractured arm while Vernon Hoagland is credited with having had some of the ligaments of his back torn loose. The machine was badly damaged and was loaded on a wagon, Sunday, and taken to St. Marys.

MAN DROWNS IN

W. N. Jordan of Springfield
Unable to Combat With Huge Waves

Unable to successfully combat the huge waves in the Lewistown reservoir, as a result of the terrific electrical and wind storm, Tuesday, W. N. Jordan, 35, Springfield, a father, was drowned, while several other bathers watched from the shore, helpless.

Jordan with the other men were in the reservoir at the time the storm arose. With the increasing storm the other bathers came out of the water, but Jordan continued his swimming. Without warning, save

THE first "Council of the Town of Lima," organized March 29th, 1842, consisted of Mayor H. D. V. Williams, Recorder W. McHenry and the following Trustees: John Alexander Jr., Samuel Black, H. Davison, T. K. Jacobs and D. D. Tomkins.

The settlement March 7th, 1842 with Treasurer John B. Wamsley shows the expenditure to that date were $49.16 and there remained in the Town Treasury an unexpended balance of $4.86.

the intermittent flashes of lightning, the storm broke rapidly, and the waves were lashed higher and higher.

Patrolman to Rescue.

The man put up a brave struggle to get to shore, but the huge waves swept him back. It was impossible to make any progress. Help was summoned, and Patrolman A. W. Fogel, of Lakeview, attempted to effect a rescue. However, his efforts were in vain, and Jordan went down for the last time when within 30 feet of the shore.

After the storm had abated, the body was recovered.

Suffer From Storm.
Hancock and Putnam counties suffered greatly from an electrical storm which swept them early last evening.

Damages in the two counties is estimated at little less than $150,000. Crops of corn near Continental, Miller City, Ottawa and Leipsic were blown to the ground, while in the cities of Leipsic and Ottawa, considerable damage was done by the wind. Numerous plate glass windows were blown in, and several trees uprooted.

Cars Tied Up.
Lightning caused a small blaze in this city, when it struck a wire running directly into the Ohio Electric substation at Main street and Robb avenue. The blaze was quickly extinguished with chemicals.

Interurban service to and from Lima was tied up for nearly an hour on account of the storm. However, the service was greatly improved owing to the storm which swept the section north of here earlier in the evening.

These two famous family medicines unite their forces with happy results for those whose nervous ills are connected with bowel and liver troubles. JIM DUNN NOT AT ALL EXCITED

James C. Dunn, owner of the Cleveland club, refused Monday to reply to charges made in New York to the effect that Ban Johnson holds an interest in the Indians.

"I do not intend to get mixed up in any controversy or such reports," he said. "Ban Johnson is wholly capable of replying to charges of the kind. I fail to see the importance of the matter—nobody is going to jail because of such statements."

He merely laughed at the report that the Indians had offered to trade Morton, Klepper and Smith for Mays and "Babe" Ruth.

AMERICAN LEAGUE CLUB OWNERS PLAYING WISE

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—The case of Carl Mays, pitcher, whose suspension by President Johnson after Mays had been traded by the Boston club to the New York Yankees, which bids fair to result in one of the bitterest wars of organized baseball, will not be settled by the American League club owners.

President Johnson, who came to New York to preside at a meeting of the league called today, announced that the special meeting would not be held.

The owners of the Yankees, Colonel Ruppert and Lieutenant Colonel T. L. Huston, told Johnson that they would not attend such a meeting and last night Colonel Huston issued a settlement in which he said that it was his belief that President Johnson was interested in the Cleveland club, adding that "until the carbuncle is removed there can be no health in your league."

Harry Sparrow, business manager of the club, said that the legal machinery had been put in motion to protect the club's rights. The preliminary move is expected to be in the form of an application for an injunction against Johnson to prevent him from interfering with the New York club's property rights.

Pitcher Mays. The owners of the Yankees, it is said, feel that the disciplinary action in Mays' case was especially severe and as in the case of Ty Cobb in 1912, when the Detroit club players went on a strike because of Cobb's suspension.

Cobb's offense was assaulting a spectator and Mays that of throwing a baseball at a "rooter."

The Cobb case was cleared up in two weeks, Cobb getting off with a ten days suspension and a fine of $50.

In reinstating Cobb, Johnson declared full protection would be afforded to all American league players against abuses or attack from spectators. Mays, it is said, feels that such protection was not afforded him and that he has a just grievance.

They had been dining in state in the dining car. Husband, who is a teacher of English, was glad that little daughter had behaved so perfectly. Mother also was in a happy frame of mind. There were numerous other diners in the car and the parents were proud of their child.

Not a single thing had happened to mar the serenity of the occasion.

Finally the meal was over and they started to leave the car. Their way took them past all of the other tables. Suddenly the little girl felt impelled to ask a question. "Mother," she called in a shrill voice "aren't we going to wash the dishes?"—Indianapolis News

ONLY ONE HEAT RUN YESTERDAY

Heavy Rain and Electrical Storm Causes Postponement of North Randall Races

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 6.—A heavy rain and electrical storm, which came as the horses were scoring for the first heat of the second event, the 2:17 trot, caused a postponement of today's Grand Circuit racing at North Randall track.

Yesterday's program will be finished Wednesday, track conditions permitting, and the races moved back a day, which carries the meeting through Saturday.

Double G, the favorite, won the only heat completed yesterday.

Track conditions permitting, yesterday's postponed Grand Circuit racing program will be decided at North Randall today. Only the first heat of the 2:12 pace had been completed when rain interfered, causing the program to be extended through Saturday.

The Press stake of $3,000 for 2:17 trotters is the feature of the card. Other events are the 2:12 pace, the first heat of which was captured yesterday by Double G, the favorite, the 2:17 pace and 2:07 trot.

Why You Should Vote for the $100,000 Bond Issue

FOR STREET LIGHTS

Your Opportunity is Here to Get Lights—Real Lights—Not the Kind the Ohio Electric Gives You Some Nights—and Some Nights No Lights.

The city council of Lima has asked you to vote next Tuesday on a $100,000 bond issue to install poles and wires for 600 street lights.

The Ohio Electric Railway company is fighting desperately to persuade you not to do it. Why?

The Ohio Electric Railway company tells you it would be a mistake. Why?

Does the Ohio Electric Railway company love Lima so?

No! But the Ohio Electric Railway company is getting $57.50 yearly for every street light it furnishes Lima, and is demanding that the city council give it a ten year contract at $62 per light.

And now council has employed an electrical expert and found the lights could be furnished at a profit at $42.52 per light per year, a saving of $19.48 every year on every light, and there are 340 of them in operation now!

Ten years ago the Ohio Electric Railway company asked Lima to pay $85 yearly for every light!

What did Lima do? Lima voted $80,000 in bonds for a municipal plant.

And what did the Ohio Electric do? Cut the price of $85 down to $57.50, and Lima accepted the cut and didn't build a municipal plant, as she had threatened.

For ten years Lima has saved $27.50 on every arc light in the city as a result of that move, or $76,450, the city auditor reports.

The $80,000 bond issue was sold at four percent interest, and the money invested by the city, and in ten years it has earned $8,808.05 OVER THE INTEREST PAID TO THE BOND HOLDERS.

With the $76,450 saved from the Ohio Electric and the $8,808.05 earned by the bond money Lima is just $85,258.05 ahead, all because Lima had nerve enough to stand up and tell the Ohio Electric Railway company that the people of Lima and not a corporation office in Cincinnati owned this city.

The same fight fought ten years ago is being fought again. Next Tuesday at the polls you will have your chance, Mr. Voter, to break the Ohio Electric Railway company's hold on Lima by voting for the street lighting bond issue.

Tomorrow we are going to tell you what this $100,000 bond issue will do for Lima, and the better lighting it will provide.

WILL APPOINT RECEIVER FOR STORAGE PORK

COLUMBUS, Aug. 6.—Drastic action by Prosecuting Attorney Hugo Schlessinger, in securing the appointment of a receiver for more than 150,000 pounds of pork held in cold storage here more than six months by a local packing concern is expected to be ordered followed in other cities as a result of a conference now in progress between Governor Cox, Attorney General Price, State Secretary of Agriculture Shaw, State Dairy and Food Commissioner Gault and State Veterinarian Burnett.

Before going into the conference Attorney General Price said the Franklin county prosecutor's action was to be one of the main topics of discussion with a view to taking similar action in other counties. Results of investigations of cold storage plants made by inspectors of the dairy and food department also will be thoroughly canvassed and cases of law violation similar to that found in Columbus noted.

Action a Surprise
County Prosecutor Schlessinger's action came as a bomb shell this morning. Promptly at convening of court he presented a petition asking for an injunction against the Columbus Packing Company and the Fairmount Creamery Company to prevent them from disposing of 151,651 pounds of pork which it is alleged the packing company has held in the cold storage plant of the creamery company for more than six months time limit provided by the Smith cold storage law. Judge Tappan immediately granted the injunction and appointed Claude Chamberlain, a local meat dealer receiver for the pork which will be sold at public auction.

It is expected that the conference at the governor's office also will include the authority to make arrests for violation of the cold storage act in addition to the civil actions similar to that started by Prosecutor Schlessinger in seizing food products which have been held longer than the specified time. The possibility of being able to seize food products in cold storage plants which have not complied with the law in making reports to the dairy and food commission, even though the food has not been stored longer than the legal time also may be considered at the conference. It is said.

Price Has Made Study.
Attorney General Price has made an exhaustive study of the cold storage law and his observations and conclusions will be given at the conference.

ference. The formal opinion which is to be made public before evening, it was said. Attorney General Price also stated that he has found other sections dealing with the marketing of food supplies which may hold even greater possibilities for prosecutions than the cold storage law or the Valentine anti-trust law. He would not state what these laws were.

About the executive offices there was an air of expectancy that other sensational developments may be looked for within a short time in various parts of the state. It was announced there would be no formal statement forthcoming as a result of the conference as the matter of precaution against premature announcement of plans.

A corps of accountants are to be assembled from the various state departments to check up on inspectors' reports on cold storage houses and to assemble data, not only for the attorney general, but for prosecuting attorneys in counties where the cold storage plants are located.

Ice Still Short;
Sugar Situation
Has Not Improved

The ice situation is not improving in Lima any, according to managers of local ice companies, and people are again asked to be as economical with their ice as possible. It has been necessary to limit customers to 27 pounds every other day, and unless there is some relief in sight from the extreme warm weather, it may be necessary to again cut the amount of ice, as well as deliveries. Heretofore three deliveries have been made weekly.

Ice Cream Cut.
A combination of the ice famine and sugar shortage have been greatly detrimental in the output of ice cream according to local ice cream manufacturers, who are limited to a certain amount of ice daily and now have to search the country for the necessary sugar to make the cream. There has been the heaviest demand in the history for ice cream and cold drinks during the past several months.

One Car Comes.

Funk told the police, he had taken 15 machines this summer. Joy-rides at night with girls was the chief incentive of the boy, it is said. PROSECUTOR WILL LOOK INTO SALES OF GARDEN TRUCK

Whether or not the inquiry which today revealed the fact that practically every factory connected with the shoe industry, is realizing excessive profits will affect local dealers insofar as the price of shoes is concerned can not be definitely decided, until some action on the matter is taken by congress, Lima merchants this afternoon stated.

Local dealers have never charged exorbitant prices for shoes, and if "excessive profits" have been made they have gone into the pockets of the manufacturers and jobbers.

Army Food

Over 1,000 men composed of both the B. & O. and L. E. & W. shops, were present at the session, which proved a hot one. Speakers declared the present strike of the Lake Erie & Western employees at Peru, Ind., is unauthorized and illegal. The request for a sympathetic strike on the part of the Lima shermen was voted down.

"HELLO GIRL" HAS HARD JOB

The Lima Times has started out finding the hardest job in Lima, as there are daily so many claims by various persons that they or some of their acquaintances hold the hardest jobs. For instance, there are the men who load heavy freight on trains, during the extreme warm weather. Then there are the men who work in boiler rooms in plants and factories, shovelling coal all day in the hot summer time.

There are those that claim there is nothing quite so hard as standing all day on your feet trying to sell things to a steady stream of women, on the lookout for bargains. A few other tedious jobs are trying innumerable pairs of shoes on a cranky customer, painting a tall building or working on one in the August heat.

But there is one job, while it may not be as hard as some, nevertheless takes a zoodly amount of patience. That is being a telephone operator. Some persons might think an operator has an easy time of it, and once in a great while she does, but not often.

When it is as hot as it has been this summer, the weather hasn't a good effect on some people's dispositions, and central seems to be the butt for most of their explosions. Of course, it is only natural for wrong numbers to occur sometimes, but when you stop to consider central has to memorize thousands of numbers, and in all probability is feeling just as hot and cranky as you are, but of course, can't voice her opinion, it behooves us to be a little considerate of her.

In practically every telephone office in the country, and especially in the Lima exchange, everything in the way of helping to make the work easier for the telephone operators has been done, such as recreation and rest rooms, rest periods of 15 minutes, and other innovations so that her work will not be so tedious.

Police Think They Have Found Bomb Left on a Porch
Spinal shivers and that clammy feeling around the feet were all in vogue at police headquarters Wednesday morning, as a mysterious box, which had been found on the front porch of Harry Whitman's home, 711 West Market street, Sunday afternoon was being opened. Patrolmen Perry Roeder and Turnkey Abe Vinberg were the men detailed to bring the mysterious box to headquarters. As Abe came down the street bearing the "agent of death and destruction" at arm's length, he swore by all that was high and mighty that he could feel the heat being generated by the deadly bomb within. Chief Roush figuring that if anything did blow up it might give him a vacation, ordered the terrible thing brought into his "sanction sanatorium."

All Were There.
Now fear is a great influence in a man's life but in this case curiosity triumphed. All the noted personalities of headquarters including the Chief Sergeant Eberly, Judge Botkins and several patrolmen, gathered around as it was decided to open box and take a chance on some one living to tell the tale. Talk about your dramatic moments! As the chief reached down to lift the lid which he unlocked, the tick of the clock on the west wall sounded like the boom of a 14 inch cannon. Intense Suspense. The second between the ticks as the fateful lid slowly lifted seemed eternity. All the memories of the bomb atrocities of May day and July fitted through the minds of those present.

And then the tension let down and a roar, broke forth. Only this roar happened to be an ejaculation from the chief something like this: "Well for Pete's sake, look at this mess." And it certainly was a mess. Cluttered together and packed in every way was a complete fishing outfit belonging to some body. Everything from hook and line to fish-worms!

Chief May Fish!
Although the police had a good laugh over the affair afterwards, it is safe to say that they don't care about the jokes of others. The last seen of the box was when the chief was endeavoring to locate the owner.

A Great Remedy.
The merits of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy are well known and appreciated, but there is occasionally a man who has no acquaintance with them and should read the following by F. H. Dear, a hotel man at Dupuyer, Mont. "Four years ago I used Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy with such wonderful results that I have since recommended it to my friends."

Salvation Army
Brigadier's Visit

Brigadier Withers of the Salvation Army, whose headquarters are at Cleveland has sent word to Captain Tyrell, of the local army that he has postponed his visit to Lima until Friday morning, when he will come here to inspect the proposed site for the new Salvation Army home, on South Main street, where the Eckert and Son undertaking establishment is now located.

Business men of South Main street have entered a protest against the erection of a Salvation Army home at the proposed location, as they assert it will be detrimental to their business. Brigadier Withers will consider their protests before a decision is made.

ALLEN WHEAT CROP IS GOOD

Investigation among local grain dealers is to the effect that the wheat crop is very good, despite the heavy rains of the past few days, which, although they have interfered in bringing in the grain, have not materially hurt the crop. Threshing in some parts of the county is progressing slowly due to the large amount of straw, and the wheat is not being improved by standing in the fields, and taking the brunt of these severe storms.

A Traveling Man's Experience.
You may learn something from the following by W. H. Ireland, a traveling salesman of Louisville, Ky. "In the summer of 1888 I had a severe attack of cholera morbus. I gave the hotel porter fifty cents and told him to buy me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and to take no substitute. I took a double dose of it according to the directions and went to sleep. At five o'clock the next morning I was called by my order and took a train for my next stopping place, a well man."
